

CALL FOR PAPERS

Annual Conference of the Social History Society
Keele University, 11-13 June 2018

DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS: Friday 2 February 2018

The annual Social History Society Conference is the largest gathering of social and cultural historians in the UK. Over more than four decades, our members have transformed historical research, inspired challenging work and explored the many ways in which our social worlds are made, imagined, shared and shattered.

Our 2018 conference, hosted by Keele University, will feature a keynote lecture from Professor Keith Wrightson of Yale University as well as a plenary panel on History & Diversity.

The conference will see the first SHS Book Prize awarded, as well as the winners announced for the best postgraduate paper and poster. There will also be opportunities to meet the editors of both our journal Cultural & Social History and our New Directions in Social and Cultural History book series with Bloomsbury.

Proposals for panels, individual papers and research posters are warmly invited from new and established historians, covering (pre)medieval, early modern, modern and contemporary research, from the local to the global, to address one or more of our conference strands:

- Diversity, Minorities & “Others”
- Global, Local & Transnational
- Politics, Policy & Citizenship
- Senses, Self & Emotions
- Social Action, Social Justice & Humanitarianism
- Life Cycles, Families & Communities
- Economies, Cultures & Consumption
- Deviance, Inclusion & Exclusion

To submit a proposal or find out more please visit www.socialhistory.org.uk

